Event Date: November 24, 2017

Dear Sir or Madam,

The Faculty of Education and the Department of Pedagogy and Teaching Methods hereby recognize Mr. Movlan Aliyev for his professional contribution to the academic conference on Chess and Classroom Leadership held on November 24, 2017 at Azerbaijan State Pedagogical University in Baku.

Mr. Aliyev presented scholarly work on the role of chess in developing educational leadership, creativity, emotional intelligence, and lifelong learning among future teachers. His lecture demonstrated how chess-based instruction supports lesson planning, reflective practice, classroom communication, and ethical leadership in school communities.

Teacher candidates and faculty valued his practical examples and focus on student-centered pedagogy rather than competition alone. Mr. Aliyev connected strategic thinking on the chessboard with classroom responsibilities: guiding discussion, building confidence, managing setbacks, and helping young people develop character alongside academic skill.

His session enriched our teacher-training program and stimulated productive dialogue on innovative methods in pedagogy and psychology of learning. We acknowledge Mr. Aliyev's educational service with gratitude and commend his dedication to preparing thoughtful educators. The university welcomes continued cooperation in teacher training, pedagogical research, and community programs that link chess with school leadership.
